

Action in rural Sussex Village Hall & Community Building Advisory Service: Publication List

Listed below are the various information sheets, topic notes and publications available to those involved in operating and managing community buildings. These documents are updated regularly.

How to access the documents?

The vast majority of these are free for subscribers to our Advisory Service and are accessible and downloadable via the log-in area of our website.

Non-subscribers can purchase individual documents on a case-by-case basis by identifying on this form the number of copies of each document that they require and then completing the order section at the end of this document. The completed form should be returned to villagehalls@ruralsussex.org.uk where it will be processed.

Alternatively a subscription may be purchased which will provide them with access. Details on the application and payment process, together with more details on the other benefits are set out here:

<https://www.ruralsussex.org.uk/what-we-do/village-halls-community-buildings/>

Please note: Where publications are only available in hard copy there is a charge for the publication and for postage and packing. Where this applies these are marked with an asterisk in the following lists. Non-subscribers will be charged the cost of the document as identified in the listing as well as postage and packing where this applies.

Village Halls & Community Buildings Publications: Order Form

Please complete the sections below and return this entire form (all 4 pages) to villagehalls@ruralsussex.org.uk, having indicated in the lists above the number of each document that you require.

If you have selected any documents that are only available in hard-copy (those marked with an asterisk), there may be additional post and packing costs associated with your order. Similarly, postage and packing costs may vary depending on the number of copies you are requesting.

A final projected cost will be communicated to you, at which point the final order can be confirmed.

Requested documents will be provided in electronic format to the email address provided.

Please note, there may be a need to order hard-copy documents from other organisations. This may lead to a delay in them being dispatched.
